Saint Peter Damian placed Jesus at the center of his life and led the renewal of the Church in the 11th century. It was a time of corruption, greed and rampant personal ambition in the Church. Called by Jesus to speak out, Peter Damian preached against the practice of Simony (the buying and selling of religious offices, such as bishop or cardinal). He exposed the moral failings within the clergy and implored them to return to the ideals of poverty, chastity and obedience. He led the way with his own example.

Saint Peter Damian made the Church a-better-version-of-herself by following Jesus and becoming a-better-version-of-himself. You can do the same.

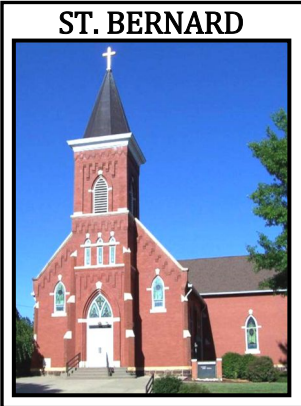

Every time you put aside your own personal preferences and ambitions, and instead follow what you prayerfully believe Jesus is calling you to do, you become a-better-version-of-yourself. And that makes the Church a-better-version-of-herself.
